RW George A. Olsen, Worshipful Master

Brethren,

Our New Jersey Lodge of Masonic Research and Education is alive and well. The papers that have been presented have been both enlightening and entertaining, well thought out, well presented and very well received by those in attendance.

Research can be serious but, it can also be fun. Serious in that each individual doing the work is attempting to expand his personal knowledge in a given area. Serious in that expanding ones personal knowledge for the benefit of others reminds us that "he who will not endeavor to add to the common stock of knowledge may be deemed a drone in the hive a nature, a useless member of society." Serious in helping each of us broaden our Masonic background beyond the those initial steps we call the Entered Apprentice Degree, Fellowcraft Degree and the Master Mason Degree, beyond the lessons taught in Scottish Rite, York Rite and Shrine. Serious in that we are urged to study the works of mankind be they Secular, Religious, or Masonic. A true Mason is one who is constantly seeking information and truth, making him a true Renaissance Man.

Research is also fun. Not the fun that one thinks of as joking around or telling stories, but the fun and probably more appropriately called the pleasure that comes from learning something new, understanding a concept for the first time, following a situation more accurately to it conclusion, or becoming more attuned to life through history. The simple words "I understand" are great, but when a modifier is added to those two word such as "better," "fully," or "can" it makes them even more powerful. That is the purpose of research.

Each of the Brethren who have presented papers have been serious in their individual endeavor and collectively have made it a pleasure to listen to them and learn. Understanding and education are the benefits of research becoming the "Supreme Truth."

Fraternally,

George A .Olsen, PDDGM

Scheduled Papers to be presented at our January Meeting:

- Truman Address presented by MW David Chase
- Preston's Stairway by Ben Hoff
- Separation Of Church & State, A Masonic Perspective by Howard Kanowitz
- Basic Masonic Manual by Thomas Thorton

Come out and meet with your brethren. You never know what you'll learn!

From The West

Bro. Tom Thorton, Senior Warden

My Brother,

It is again time for a meeting at Trenton. I'm happy to say MW Chase will present a talk he has found which was given by Most Worshipful Brother Harry S. Truman in our very building some years ago. That should be very interesting.

I will present another chapter in my Basic Masonic Manual. I have been fortunate to be invited to several lodges in my district and find the information to be very well received. So I'm continuing on that long term project.

Now about you, I would like to remind you all that Research may be hard to think and write about but Masonic 'education' should be of interest to all. Hopefully some of you have thoughts about learning Masonry both today and in the past. If you would simply make notes and give them to me I'll expand them into presentation form.

Also please keep in mind I have hopes of getting our history up to date from 1987.

One person has suggested that I read the Proceedings for the years in question and write the a history from them so I'm reading 'em and trying to write a yearly summary.

Any local color any of you might recall from your past years would sure be appreciated.

Hope to see you all in January.

Secretary's Corner

Brethren,

It was decided at the last meeting to have the vote for the selection of the Paper of the Year in March. We would include all papers presented during the first two years of the Lodge. Once a paper is selected, a Plaque will be presented at our annual meeting in May.

Speaking of the Annual Meetings, several members questioned the procedure concerning Dues Notices. Our Masonic Year does not follow the year our Blue Lodges follow. Our year goes from May to May. Dues Notices for the 2004 year will be sent out in March 2004.

We have added three new members bringing our total membership number up to 75.

The revamping of our By-Laws was discussed at our last meeting. If you have any ideas for changes to our By-Laws, send me an e-mail.

Help the New Jersey Lodge of Research and Education!!!

When you are finished with this month's trestleboard, place it in a prominent location in your home Lodge. Hopefully, someone will grab it up, read it, find it interesting, and submit an application to join NJ LORE No. 1786!

Required Reading

Bro. Tom Thorton, Senior Warden & Bro. Matthew Korang, Secretary

At September 2003's meeting, Bro. Thorton presented his paper titled "The Books of Freemasonry – Simplifying the Overwhelming". Bro. Tom's attempted to wade through the sea of Masonic writing to give the reader an essential list of must-haves for your personal Masonic Library. The entire paper can be downloaded from our website for your enjoyment.

One of things that Bro. Tom wrote about was a listing of good writings available on the Web. Tom stated that the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania had a nice listing of books. Well, in my efforts to fill the whitespace of the Trestleboard this month, I went on a search of the Internet for a decent list to present here. In my surfing travels, I found a great website – www.workingtools.com. This website contains some of the most prevalent authors in England at this time. Many of the writers of Freemasonry Today, an English Freemasonic Magazine, are regular contributors to the website. Noted author and editor of Freemasonry Today, Michael Baigent is a regular contributor.

Anyway, the website editor, Matthew Scanlon, posted his quite extensive listing of what he considers "required reading" for today's Freemason. The website lists the books in three parts. I will reprint them for you with Bro. Scanlon's commentary. If you get a chance take an Internet trip to this webpage, you will not be sorry. The rest of the list will be reprinted in future editions of the Trestleboard. Even though this is a list for English Freemasons, it is still interesting.

Recommended Reading

Abah, Ranami, Chief

Light After Darkness
(Lewis Masonic, 1993)

The author examines why men are attracted to Freemasonry and from such a wide variety of religious, ethnic and social backgrounds.

Baigent, Michael & Leigh, Richard

The Temple and the Lodge (Jonathan Cape, 1989)

An investigative account concerning the myth that the Templars ran away to Scotland in the fourteenth century, finding sanctuary with King Robert Bruce. The tome encounters celtic myths, alleged Templar graves, Rosslyn Chapel, the Gypsies, the Sinclair and Montgomery families, the Scots Guards, and ties them in with the story of the Rosicrucians, the Freemasons, the Jacobites, and the foundation of the modern American state, all packaged in an imaginative prose. Recommended as a fun read, as it is undoubtedly the best of the recent spate of popular Templar 'whodunnits', though I don't subscribe to the general thesis.

Barker-Cryer, Neville

The Arch and the Rainbow: the story of the Order of Mark Master Masons and the degree of the Royal Ark Mariner (Ian Allen, 1996)

A work which attempts to explain all that one needs to learn regarding the Mark and Royal Ark Mariner degrees. Written by the Past Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of England, it is a fascinating tome for all those in the above orders.

Barrett, David V

Secret Societies, from the Ancient and Arcane to the Modern and Clandestine (Blandford, London, 1999)

This is a good study for anyone looking for an introduction to the complicated world of esoteric and secret societies. From the ancient Pythagoreans and Zoroastrians, to the medieval Platonists, Gnostics, Sufis, and Kabbalists, the author succeeds in presenting an introductory and balanced view. Chapter 3 is on Freemasonry. Available in paperback.

Batham, C, N

Freemasonry in England and France - collected papers of Cyril Batham (Australian Masonic Research Council, 1993)
Available from QCCC Ltd.

Baynard, S, H

History of the Supreme Council 33rd degree of the Ancient and Accepted Rite of Freemasonry, Northern Jurisdiction of the USA. 2 vols., (Boston, 1938). This is regarded as the standard history of the rite.

Beresiner, Yasha

Royal Arch: the fourth degree of the Grand Lodge of the Antients (Privately printed, 2000)
Last year's Prestonian Lecture from a Past Master of Quatour Coronati Lodge of Research, No.2076. (EC) Available from QCCC Ltd.

Bredin, Miles

The Pale Abyssinian - a Life of James Bruce, African Explorer and Adventurer (Harper Collins, 2000)
An account of the remarkable eighteenth century Scottish explorer, duellist and womaniser, who was a descendent of King Robert Bruce. Between 1768 - 73, Bruce made a lengthy journey into the highlands of Abyssinia, where he subsequently claimed to have discovered the Tisisat Falls and the source of the Blue Nile. Though his claims were ridiculed, his discovery of the lost Ethiopian Books of Enoch is not open to question. Bruce was admitted a member of the Canongate Kilwinning Lodge No.2 in Edinburgh. A good read, though some of the information it contains relating to Freemasonry, tends to rely more on legend than fact.

"A Daily Advancement in Masonic Knowledge," by Various Authors
Published by the Masonic Book Club, 2003, 345 pages.

If this book review reads like an endorsement of a club membership... that's because it is. To recommend "A Daily Advancement in Masonic Knowledge" is to recommend the Masonic Book Club also, as the MBC is the publisher and sole distributor of this, its 34th publication. If Masonic research and education interests you, then this non-profit outfit is worthy of your time.

Club membership is limited to 1,500, but there are openings now. For $15 a year the member receives a beautifully bound hardcover volume of pointed Masonic interest. Sometimes it'll be a reprint of a rare and highly sought Masonic document; other times the book will be a newly authored work of significant Masonic knowledge. This volume for 2003 is somewhere in between as it contains 45 years of Society of Blue Friars lectures. Here you'll find rarities by authors you have in your bookcase — Newton, Coil, Carr, Denslow, Cerza — and contemporary writers you might know from Masonic cyberspace, like McLeod, de Hoyos, Morris and King.

The content of this volume is a treasure, as it imparts a wealth of histories, biographies and erudite points of view. Space here does not allow for even a cursory description of what's to be learned from this book. You'll simply have to read it. To join the MBC, mail your $15 check to:
