April 1988

Brethren:

Have you ever considered the inalienable rights, that we as American citizens consider to be so valuable? — the rights of life and liberty, the pursuit of happiness, which is so well illustrated by our constitution, and so aptly displayed in our every day way-of-life.

Could the right of life merely be a statement from the Creator of his pride and admiration in his creation?

Could the right of liberty merely be a statement of mankind, regarding the freedom he so cherishes, and the dedication he has embodied in preserving his rights and freedoms?

Could not the pursuit of happiness be an enjoinder of Gods and Mans ideals, to extend those God-given rights and those human desires into one ultimate package, which allows our beliefs and affections to exist?

The right most cherished, and most discussed by the people of this great country, is the right and honor of being able to vote for our government officials on a local, state and national level, and to be able to perform this right in total and open freedom.

As Masons, we also take this right into our fraternity, and cherish it with equal esteem. With rights, my Brethren, also come responsibilities.

Do not under any circumstances, ever consider losing the privileges which have been extended to you — But, also never forget the responsibilities that are due from you in practicing your rights.

Fraternally,
GARY R. LAWSON
Worshipful Master
