

My Brethren:

Nothing stirs the emotions of Americans more deeply than the sight of Old Glory popping smartly atop a flag pole, or gracing in solemn honor a veteran's casket at graveside, or rising majestically above the heads of victorious American athletes at the Olympic Games.

Seeing the flag on occasions like these evokes in each of us pride in America and pride in being an American. A person must be cold, indeed, who can look upon its folds rippling in the breeze without feeling pride of country.

The flag is the symbol of everything our country stands for. Each time we see it, we remember who we are and the price that has been paid to keep our nation free.

When we see the flag, we see a country where men and women are not judged by their religion, national origin or the color of their skin. We see a land where we are free to choose our place of worship, elect our own leaders and, if we want, even aspire to lead ourselves.

In our flag we also see a country where people live with their neighbors in peace and harmony, with charity and compassion in their hearts; where they still pray, pay their taxes, obey the law and pledge allegiance to our flag.

Our flag is the symbol of a way of life that has provided more liberty and more material benefits for more people than any other way of life in the history of mankind.

Our flag stands in an honored place in our houses of worship because it is a symbol of our religious freedoms. It waves over our schools as a testament to our heritage and to our freedom of opportunity. It flies over our state houses and federal buildings as testimony to our representative form of government. And it flies in our yards and from our homes as a reminder that we are a free people today because of those who paid a dear price throughout all of our yesterdays.

When I see our flag, wherever it may be, I see Masons, dedicated Masons, men faithful to every trust, quiet and peaceable citizens, who are true to their government and just to their country. These are men who practice Charity and who are concerned for their fellow man.

So, fly YOUR flag proudly, and if you should shed a tear when your flag passes, be proud, don't even wipe it away . . .
