

Brethren;

“Brotherhood” — That is the glue that holds the MASONIC FRATERNITY together. Without it there is no reason to belong. For charity we can join other organizations, as well as for social needs. Times have changed and somehow Brotherhood has also. Think back to when the old timers got together and helped one another. Now the younger generation have no time. Lucky if they can spare an hour or two to attend a meeting. Is this the cause of our lodge meetings not being attended? Has all the material things taken so much of their time, that one must work more hours to pay for them? Or do they find more pleasure spending time at work to pay for the material things that they say we MUST HAVE. Social capital is very important and necessary in our behavior to one another. Remember that men (woman) are made to be social creatures. Lodge meetings help with building social capital, which we all need. Come out and meet with your brethren.

Fraternally,
Milton Moroz, Worshipful Master
