

My Brother:

In St. Petersburg, Florida, there is a unique organization called the Three-Quarter Century Club. The minimum age for admission is seventy-five years. The group is involved in several activities, one of which is baseball. Yes, members of that organization have a baseball team, and they play regularly scheduled games. They even challenge professionals who do their winter training in the area. Once a fan witnessed a spectacular catch by an eighty-three year old, and he said, "Sir, you play a terrific game for your age." "Well I tell you," said the man, "It isn't how old YOU are, it's how YOU are old that counts!" That is a philosophy we all would do well to ponder. Age per se isn't what's significant. It's our reaction to our age which is of significance!
